

STEEL INTERCHANGE

Steel Interchange is an open forum for Modern Steel Construction. Answers and/or questions should be typewritten and double-spaced. Readers to exchange useful and practical professional information on all phases of steel building construction. Submittals that have been prepared on a computer should be submitted on a 5.25-inch floppy diskette (either as a Wordperfect file or in ASCII format). The opinions expressed in Steel Interchange do not necessarily represent an official position of the American Institute of Steel Construction, Inc. and have not been reviewed. It is the policy of the Institute to accept no liability for any errors or omissions.

construction plans. As the question accurately illustrates

100% of the total value

W = 100%

100% of the total value is represented by the construction plans. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.

The construction plans represent 100% of the total value. As the question accurately illustrates, the construction plans represent 100% of the total value.